

Ward Unveils Another Potential Star At Old Salem

When McLain Ward led the victory gallop following the $130,000 Empire State Grand Prix on May 22 at the end of the second week of the Old Salem Spring Horse Shows, it came as no surprise to the crowd. Ward won the previous week's $50,000 Old Salem Farm Grand Prix with HH Carlos Z and came into the class off a win in the $35,000 Grand Prix of North Salem with fan favorite Rothchild just two days prior.

The surprise winner, rather, was Ward's mount. The 9-year-old Selle Français mare Tina la Boheme (Calvaro Z—Lutine du Manoir, Arpege Pierreville) captured the first grand prix victory of her career in North Salem, N.Y., triumphing over a field of 39 that included her famous stablemate Rothchild, who settled for third behind Gentile van Spieveld and Leslie Howard.

"We're really excited about her," said Ward, who also rode the mare in the previous week's grand prix, in which she finished with 8 faults. "We bought her last year as a young horse and developed her a little bit through Florida and are still developing her. We put her in the grand prix both weeks because we thought she was ready for the experience, but I don't know if we expected her to win. We were very pleased."

Only six of the 39 competitors managed to navigate the first round of the Alan Wade-designed track without fault, and only the top two were double clear. Ward and Rothchild blazed around the grand prix field and appeared to be setting an unbeatable time in the jump-off until the veteran pulled a rail with three fences to go at the first element of the combination. Howard jumped clear, but her 48.34-second time was nearly 8 seconds slower than Rothchild (40.49). Ward and "Tina" returned to jump the shortened course smartly, finishing faultlessly in 44.62 seconds.

"She was actually a little bit green in the first round, but she really came back strong and performed brilliantly in the jump-off," Ward said. "I think she gained a lot from the experience and showed us that she's capable of doing it at a high level."

Ward acquired Tina la Boheme last November from Pierre Petit of France. The mare was formerly campaigned in the young horse divisions and up to the 1.45-meter level by Jean Luc Dufour. She jumped her first grand prix at Auvers (France) last August. Ward went in partnership with notable U.S. Equestrian Federation judge and longtime family friend Artie Hawkins to purchase her.

"Artie's family owned the Shannon Stables in Bedford, N.Y., which was the first farm my parents had bought and where I was born, so Artie was there when I arrived!" Ward said. "He's been a dear family friend ever since.

"There's a cute story," he added. "Artie was a famous judge, and when I rode ponies—I've told everybody I was terrible—he was the judge who was asked by another judge to tell my father, since they were such good friends, not to push his son, because I had no talent. Luckily, he didn't take the advice, and it all worked out!"

Ward debuted Tina in the 1.35-meter division at the Winter Equestrian Festival (Fla.) in January. The duo posted runner-up finishes in the $15,000 1.40-meter Grand Prix at the Ridge at Wellington (Fla.) in February and the $25,000 Nutrena Grand Prix at WEF in March and jumped in the $130,000 Suncoast 1.50-meter Championship Final at WEF before heading north to Ward's home base at Castle Hill in Brewster, N.Y.

Old Salem has provided some breakout moments for Ward's top mounts in recent years. He jumped his first class with Rothchild at the show in 2008, and last year the phenomenal HH Azur earned her first grand prix victory in the $50,000 Old Salem Farm Grand Prix before winning at Spruce Meadows (Alberta), the Hampton Classic (N.Y.) and the Royal Winter Fair (Toronto). HH Azur is now aimed at a U.S. team spot for the Rio Olympic Games.

"It's my home show," Ward said. "We live less than a mile away. We're very proud of the effort the show has made to become an international event, and it's in a time of the year where, after giving the horses a little bit of a rest after Florida, we push it a bit, so to speak, to see what they're made of."

While Ward will spend much of his summer abroad with HH Azur and Rothchild, contesting the USEF's observation events for the Hermès U.S. Olympic Show Jumping Team, Tina will remain stateside.

"I'll come home for Devon [Pa.] to ride in the grand prix, and she'll do the second classes," Ward said, "and then she'll do some shows this summer in the United States. Then, if everything goes according to plan for me, she'll have a nice rest during the Olympic time period and then start up again in the fall, probably at [the Hampton Classic]."

A New Focus

Louise Serio and owner Bryan Baldwin elected to geld El Primero in March, and when the 7-year-old Dutch Warmblood (Numero Uno—Zo-Special, Indorado) returned to derby competition at the Old Salem Farm Spring II show on May 21, a new level of gentlemanly poise and focus led him to the top of the leaderboard in the $10,000 USHJA International Hunter Derby.

"This was his first show back doing the high performance [division] and the first derby he's done this year," said Serio, who bases out of her Derbydown, Louise Serio rode Bryan Baldwin's El Primero to victory in the $10,000 USHJA International Hunter Derby at Old Salem Spring II, the first derby win of the newly gelded 7-year-old's career.

Inc., in Kennett Square, Pa. "I can't even say enough nice things about him, and now that he's a gelding, it's even easier and nicer. His focus is better."

She and "Primo" led from the start in the derby, receiving high scores of 89 and 86.5 in Round 1 over Kevin Giblin's course. With a 6.5-point cushion, Serio and Primo could not be caught.

"I thought he was wonderful in the first round," Serio said of Primo, who also won four of the five high performance classes he contested at the show. "The whole course was very even, and the jumps were great. We did all the high options. I was really, really happy with him. The handy round went well, too, and I left a stride out in a line to show his handiness. The horse is just a super, scopey, easy ride. He's got a lovely balance, and he's just a dream to ride. He has everything you would want in a great hunter."

Although she just began competing Primo this year, Serio has known the horse since she first scouted him at Stal Hendrix in the Netherlands in early 2015. At the time, he was competing in the jumper divisions and breeding mares.

“He presented in Europe as just a lovely type and a lovely jumper,” Serio recalled. “He had a nice amount of experience showing over there, and he came over here and just wanted to be a hunter right away.”

Upon being imported, the horse showed with Sandy Ferrell in the first year green division and in his first derbies; they placed third in the classic round of the USHJA International Hunter Derby Championships (Ky.) last August. One of the youngest horses in the competition as a 6-year-old, he finished 22nd overall.

“This is really just his second year of showing,” Serio said. “He’s gorgeous to look at, and he’s a great type and just has wonderful rideability. He had that from the very beginning.”

After Ferrell fell off a young horse last December, fracturing three vertebrae and puncturing a lung, Serio took up the ride on Primo for Baldwin, a long-time client who operates under Meralex Farms in Brandon, Fla.

“She’s a wonderful client of mine,” Serio said. “She’s been a client for 24 years, and I’ve done most of the horses for her.

“She would like to ride [Primo] and wanted him to be a gelding rather than a stallion,” she added.

Serio began Primo in the second year greens at WEF in January, but in a month’s time she contested the high performance division. The two were reserve champions in their debut at the level and were outright champions by circuit’s end.

“We moved him up to make him jump a little bigger, and that proved to be a successful decision,” Serio said. “Any of that experience is very beneficial.”

With the horse’s first derby victory under his belt, Serio hopes he can improve upon last year’s accolades. The gelding’s summer show schedule will include stops at Devon, Upperville (Va.) and Brandywine (Pa.) before taking a few weeks off prior to showing at Kentucky and then Derby Championships. 🍷

EQUESTRIAN SAFETY EXPLAINED

Equestrian Kitemark:

The Kitemark symbol ensures the helmet has been independently tested by one of the most renowned test centers in the world, the British Safety Institute. Rigorous testing occurs first at the design phase, then as an annual audit and again with batch tests throughout each year.

Each international equestrian certification checks helmets differently and helmets that have multiple certifications offer the widest protection to the rider.
