

OUT & about

WASHINGTON INTERNATIONAL HORSE SHOW - WASHINGTON, DC

1. Sponsor Lindsay Maxwell (l) and WIHS President Victoria Lowell (r) congratulate Di Samorano on a victory in the 2017 Lindsay Maxwell Charitable Fund WIHS Equitation Finals with Taylor St. Jacques in the irons. 2. Three-time U.S. Olympic medalist McLain Ward leads the victory gallop for the $50,000 International Jumper Speed Final after announcing the retirement of long-time mount, HH Carlos Z. 3. Katie Dinan and Dougie Douglas in the $130,000 Longines FEI World Cup™ Jumping Washington. 4. Hunter Holloway and her Toto walking the course for the $35,000 International Jumper Accumulator Costume Class. 5. Kama Godek, winner of the Best Costume Award, piloting De Granda in the $35,000 International Jumper Accumulator Costume Class while dressed as a scarecrow. 6. Catherine Tyree, 23, wins the $10,000 Leading 25 Years of Age & Under Award, sponsored by Sleepy P Ranch, and the Leading Lady Rider Award, sponsored by Longines. 7. WIHS mascot, Mimi Cooper, gets an exclusive interview with ABC 7 Washington on the streets of D.C.

8. Leslie Howard is all smiles while competing Donna Speciale in the $130,000 Longines FEI World Cup™ Jumping Washington. 9. Beat Méndiz (SUJ) and Dsarie, owned by Grand Road Partners, claim victory in the $130,000 Longines FEI World Cup™ Jumping Washington. 10. Taylor St. Jacques, 18, thanking Di Samorano after the pair topped the 2017 Lindsay Maxwell Charitable Fund WIHS Equitation Finals Jumper Classic. 11. Granatoandra and Andrew Welles share a celebratory kiss after Granatoandra and X M won the Low Junior/Amateur-Owner World Cup™. 12. 2016 U.S. Olympic team silver medalist Kent Farrington and Creedance competing in the $130,000 Longines FEI World Cup™ Jumping Washington.