

Letters to the Editor

APRIL ISSUE

Couldn't be prouder to be this month's cover girl with this handsome horse, for one of my all-time favorite magazines. Thank you, Sidelines magazine, for the opportunity to talk giving back, and to play dress up with my main man ("Georgina Bloomberg is Living Her Best Life and Making a Difference in the World" by Britney Grover).
—Georgina Bloomberg

I wanted you to thank you for offering me the opportunity to feature our business in Sidelines ("Allyson Hall: Life, Horses and Huntley Equestrian" by Alannah Castro). I'm blown away and flattered by how nice the feature was presented for Huntley Equestrian. The Sidelines team did a tremendous job putting this together and it looks flawless. Thank you very much for this feature. This Sidelines opportunity has really promoted our business and expanded our market across the country.
—Allyson Hall, Huntley Equestrian

Thank you for the opportunity to be part of your magazine ("Helping Riders Boost Their Horse IQ").
—Diane Carney

Beautiful cover! Thank you so much for featuring me ("Shannagh-Leigh Hartshorn: Creating Art From Miniature to Life-Size" by Shya Beth). So excited to share that I've been featured in this wonderful magazine! Can't thank Shya Beth enough for the opportunity.
—Shannagh-Leigh Hartshorn

Shoutout to Sidelines magazine and Shelly Viruete for always thinking of ways to help promote the stallions. Appreciate all your help!
—Cheryl Maye, Maye Show Ponies

I love the Letter From the Editor in the April issue of Sidelines. I'm looking forward to reading the article on Georgina, also.
—Michelle Hilton

SIDELINES SPOTLIGHT

Tamie Smith, right, who is on the Sidelines cover this month, with Sidelines account executive Kayce Douglass at Tamie's clinic in Colorado in February.

The coronavirus pandemic kept most of us at home, but luckily, reading the April issue of Sidelines was a great way to pass the time. Sidelines photographer Kristie Nichols was reading the magazine while her dog gave her the "why are you at home all the time" look!

Tamie Smith fans and eventers enjoyed auditing the Tamie Smith clinic in Colorado in February.

Sidelines photographer Shawna Simmons, left, with Georgina Bloomberg, the April Sidelines cover girl. Shawna took the stunning photos of Georgina, including the cover photo of Georgina in the white tulle dress, which has proven to be a top favorite cover of all time.

Loyal Sidelines reader Wendy Morrison, wearing her mask while out in Colorado, is joined by Rennie, who is also a fan of Sidelines.

Eventers Cindy Moore West and Katie Robinson took part in the Tamie Smith clinic at Dan Michaels' Rabbit Mountain Equestrian Center in Longmont, Colorado.

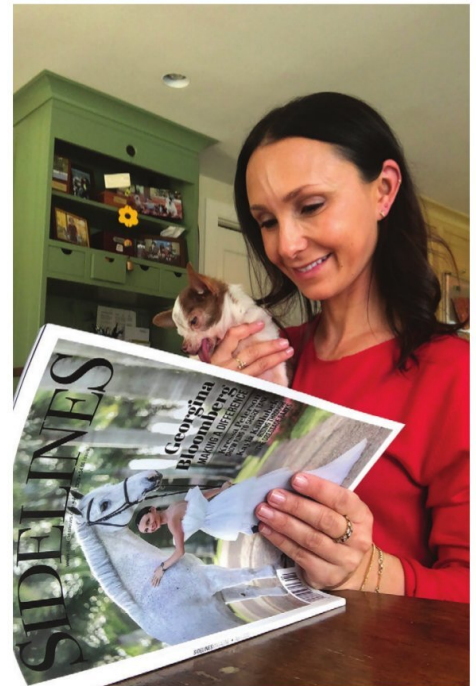

Letters to the Editor continued

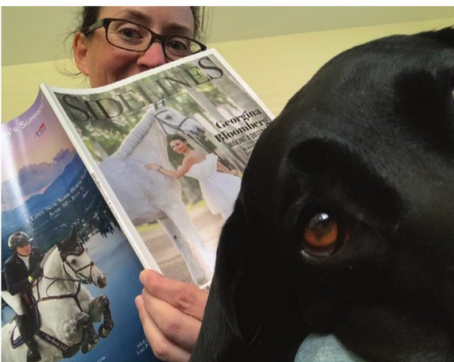

The Colorado Dover Saddlery has always been a big fan of Sidelines — so make sure to stop and pick up a copy if you're in the area. Dover manager Tracy Urrutia, right, Joanne Sisteck and the wonder dog Puppy enjoy the April issue.

Jackie Gattoni shows off Sidelines in front of the Happy Hen boutique at the 2020 Winter Equestrian Festival.

Georgina Bloomberg, the April Sidelines cover girl, shares the issue with her rescue dog Arnie. If you missed her story in the April issue, head over to the Sidelines website and read all about Georgina's life and her rescue animals. Thank you Georgina for sharing your life with so many animals.

Sidelines photographer Kristin Lee and her dog, Luna, have been making the most of staying at home — it looks like Luna enjoys the extra attention!

Sidelines is happy to have fans of all ages, including Baker Douglass, who couldn't be cuter reading his favorite horse magazine!

Photographer Shawna Simmons is happy to be handing out custom Snaks 5th Avenue cookies made especially for her SAS Equine Photography clients. So cute and so yummy!

Many of the Sidelines magazine team had planned to meet at #LRK3DE 2020 but when it was cancelled we did the next best thing and had a Zoom party so we could still be together. It was great fun, but hoping next year we can all be there in person!

Kat Fuqua, right, showing her Sidelines October 2017 cover to professional Collecting Gaits groom Lydia Deevey and 2019 USEF Horse of the Year Consent.