Why Should You Boost Your Horse's Immune System with Equine Elixirs' Immunox® This Season?

Heading into the fall, top trainers and riders across the country will use Equine Elixirs' Immunox® to help keep their horses healthy and comfortable as the weather gets cooler, year-end competitions and championships heat up, and long-distance travel to warmer climates begins.

In cool weather, muscles can tighten more quickly than usual after physical exercise. The antioxidants and anti-inflammatories in Immunox help reduce post-workout oxidative stress, supporting muscle recovery and a healthy inflammatory response. Changes in weather also introduce different allergens, which can lead to dry or itchy skin. Immunox's adaptogenic ingredients help moderate your horse's immune system response to these conditions.

Learn why some of the most competitive trainers and riders incorporate Equine Elixirs' Immunox into their daily feeding programs:

MCLAIN WARD

EQUINE ELIXIRS

"Immunox has helped us deal successfully with muscle soreness, dehydration, skin issues, and allergies that really affect the horses. Our experience with Immunox has been extremely beneficial."

- McLain Ward, Olympic Show Jumper

DEVON KANE

"During peak show season when campaigning my horses, I ask a lot of their muscles and bodies. Since starting my horses on Immunox, I have not had to do the same post-competition recovery treatments that I used to. Their bodies are recovering quicker, they are moving better, they are healthier and more fit, and I am thrilled with how happy they are."

- Devon Kane, Grand Prix Dressage Rider

MARGIE ENGLE

EQUINE ELIXIRS

"Immunox helped boost our horses' immune systems so that they adjusted really well to the organisms in the Florida soil. It has also helped maintain their muscles, helping to keep them supple. It has been great for their overall well-being."

- Margie Engle, Olympic Show Jumper

What Is Immunox?

An immunity/antioxidant blend designed to reduce oxidative stress, Immunox promotes muscle recovery and boosts the immune system. Intense physical exercise, traveling, exposure to sick horses, or other stressful situations can compromise your horse's immune system, requiring longer periods of recovery and leaving him more susceptible to infection, soreness, or tying-up.

Immunox provides a highly bioavailable source of natural Vitamin E (d-alpha tocopheryl acetate), a potent antioxidant that helps limit the damage caused by daily oxidative stress, which in conjunction with Vitamin C, Vitamin A, selenium, and polyphenols, helps enhance cell activity, protecting cell membranes from free radicals.
