Carlee McCutcheon Clutches Capital Challenge Victory in Palm Beach International North American Junior Equitation Championships

On the final day of the Capital Challenge Horse Show's Equitation Weekend, presented by BIGEQ.com, 148 riders rode into the Show Place Arena at Prince George's Equestrian Center for the Palm Beach International Academy (PBIA) North American Junior Equitation Championships.

"It's an honor to win this class," emphasized McCutcheon. "I've never been to Capital Challenge before, so to win this class and to be here with such an amazing and supportive team is really amazing. It's a great feeling."

Similar to Saturday's Taylor Harris Insurance Services (THIS) National Children's Medal Finals, three panels composed of two judges each awarded scores, and the average of the three resulted in the rider's overall mark.

McCutcheon was 25th in the order of go with Kennedy McCaulley's Chacco Star and shot right to the top of the leaderboard with an average score of 89.33.

That lasted until Skylar Wireman of Bonsall, California, rode MKT Investments LLC's Famous in first-place with an equal score, but a higher mark from the panel one judges.

Eight trips later, Isabella David of Holmdel, New Jersey, broke out of the 80's, notching an average score of 90 aboard Castlefield Spartacus.

"I think the first round was definitely a test," noted McCutcheon of the challenging Ken Krome-designed track. "I thought the lines rode short. My horse has a huge stride, and in a small ring it can be hard to get galloping and have that nice, out-of-stride equitation look."
