

Highlights From World Equestrian Center – Wilmington Winter Classic XVIII

Kady Abrahamson (USA) and Any, owned by Abrahamson Equestrian LLC, were victorious in the $30,000 Dandy Products Grand Prix.

“Any has been there, done that, and I knew that if I did the same turns as I did on [Jazil Du Housseit] we would end up fast. There was still one to go after me so I didn’t want to leave it open for the last rider. Everything came up off a gallop so nicely with her. Any is jumping the Kentucky Invitational at Land Rover this year. This was our last class to prepare for that.”

Melissa Donnelly and Elizabeth Becker’s Corlando 49 captured the top prize in the $15,000 USHJA National Hunter Derby 3’ Open. The pair earned impressive scores of 87 and 88.5.

“I was luckily able to save him for the end. I knew that if he was in the mood, I could make a direct line to one and have him follow me back to the inside turn to the trot jump. He was beautiful coming back to the in-and-out to the line. I got a nice, strong gallop to the hedge, and he held the good gallop down to the final oxer. I counted on his good brakes at the end.”

Lindsay Lyden (USA) and her own Fawkes won the $10,000 Buffalo Wild Wings Futures Prix.

“We have had Fawkes for three or four years now. He was a great horse when we bought him, and we always knew that. It was just getting to the point where we needed to excel together. Last year we started clicking a little bit more, and he is just a really great horse.”

This week’s Wilmington Sunday Spotlight shines on the incredibly talented mare TC Latina 262 (Lancer III x Carvalla) aka “Lala.” The 12-year-old Westphalian mare owned by True Course has been a fan favorite at World Equestrian Center – Wilmington throughout the 2023 Winter in the Midwest Series. When she jumps in the Standlee Sanctuary, Lala tries harder with each step and never fails to leave her True Course team with big smiles as she exits. We caught up with Sarah Ash, Michaella Gerlacher and Charlotte Oulanoff to learn more about their favorite mare in the barn!
